Silverware in the Home

Silverware shares this distinction with books, that it lends an atmosphere of refinement thas even something of the companionable quality of books, for one never tires of its society.

Above all, silverware is substantial-it carries weight, both literally and figuratively-it contributes something to the home which is out of all proportion to the cost-it lends to its surroundings the radiance of intrinsic worth-it has the hospitality of friendship, and the integrity and imperishability

Whether you buy silverware for ornament or for use, for table or for mantel, for sideboard or for centre piece, for beauty or for service, for breakfast, luncheon, dinner, or tea, do not forget that

Silverware for the Home should be bought at the Home of Silverware which is Gorham's

Reasons for Espionage.

Reasons for Espionage.

These are: A belief that an attempt was being made to induce the Governor to revoke or recall the commission; that an attempt had been made to discredit the body; that an effort was afoot to spirit away witnesses from the jurisdiction of the courts and the commission, and that an attempt was being made to intimidate witnesses regarding what they should and should not tell the commission.
